Are Washdays Necessary in Winter?

There was a time, back in the day of stone hatchets, when woman was harder than the ice today. A biting wind, damp air and shak underfoot did not so much endanger her then.

But is this exposure necessary now? Is woman exercising her best judgment in hanging clothes on the line in winter weather? Is man showing chivalry when he permits it?

A simple and safe solution of this problem is to send your Family Washing to us—especially during these days while the weather is surly.

No washboards or heavy soaps and employed by us. We wash for you in the twentieth century way by letting soft water and hilly suds surge through the fabric. It is a laundering method that saves clothes.

So also is our ironing process. We give a charming lustre to your linens not with hot irons, but with special steam heated presses that protect the textiles.

Capt. Charles Kilburn Of Fort Bliss Weds Miss Edith Chabot, San Antonio

The San Antonio Express of Saturday has an interesting account of the wedding of Capt. Charles Kilburn, of the Seventh signal corps, with station at Fort Bliss, and Miss Edith Chabot, of San Antonio. Capt. Kilburn is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Kilburn of this city and Mrs. Kilburn and Miss Katherine Kilburn went to San Antonio to be present for the wedding. The account says:

"One of the pretty weddings of the week was celebrated at St. Mark's Episcopal church last evening when the marriage of Capt. Charles Kilburn, of the United States signal corps, stationed at Fort Bliss, El Paso, and Miss Edith Chabot, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Chabot, was solemnized by chaplain Smith, of Fort San Antonio.

"Just before the ceremony Miss Mildred Morris played 'The Swan,' followed by Miss Mary Aubrey, who sang 'O Perfect Love,' accompanied by Oscar Fox on the organ. Miss Morris played the obbligato. Soon after the tones of Miss Aubrey's song died away, Mr. Fox played the 'Wedding March' from Lohengrin for the entrance of the bride party.

The ushers were the first to enter, followed by the bridegroom's attendants, William Frazer, Capt. Bertram Moore, Capt. Cooper and Capt. W. W. Weim, the entire procession in the uniform of the United States army.

"The bridegroom entered, taking the bride from the altar near the chancel stairs. The bridesmaids formed the remainder of the aisle for the bride and her father.

"In the order of their coming were: Miss Katherine Kilburn, sister of the bride, who entered first, followed by Miss Mildred Morris, Miss Alice Cobb, Mrs. Murray Brooks, the mother of the bride and Miss Elizabeth Kilburn, the bride's sister.

The bridesmaids wore pretty original creations in taffeta and tulle, the taffeta skirts being fastened with loops at the sides, extending the full length of the skirt. The bridesmaids were dressed in white, with tulle streamers.

The bride and her father were met at the chancel steps by the bridegroom and his best man, Randall Kilburn, a brother, in the uniform of the United States army.

"At the conclusion of the ceremony the cross and flag were crossed over the happy couple and as the bride party left the chancel the aisle was formed by the crossed sabers of the military attendants. A pretty marriage is attached to the bride's wedding gown, it having been worn by her mother, the style remaining the same. The plain skirt and long train of ivory satin and the tight fitting blouse effect was veiled in real point lace, studded with pearls, which the Juliette cap was on the same lace and pearl effect. To this was attached the veil, which completely covered the bride in a cloud effect of tulle.

The bride carried an old fashioned bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley, fringed about with lace.

The bridegroom's sister was used to cut the wedding cake, each of the party entering into the cutting.

Capt. and Mrs. Kilburn left at 3 o'clock for their new home in El Paso, where they will be stationed for some time. Mrs. Kilburn wore a smart tailored suit of dark blue velvet, with a velvet toque and black boots.

The wedding of Miss Helen Elizabeth Noyes and E. W. Weimer, of New York city, which was to have been celebrated on Monday, has been indefinitely postponed on account of the serious illness of Miss Noyes.
